U. S. Plane Captures U-Boat

SEVERELY damaged by bombs dropped by an American plane of the Royal Air Force, this German submarine is shown coming to the surface to surrender to the British in the Atlantic. The picture was released by London with the story of the unprecedented capture of the German U-boat, which was towed to an English Harbor. The capture was unique in all naval history. White shirt on the conning tower indicates the surrender. The German crew stands around the tower awaiting transfer to a British ship.

FARM LEADERS HIT IDEA OF FLOODING U. S. WHEAT MARTS

Morgenthau's Suggestion Brings Protest From Many Washington Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—Farm leaders in Congress today sharply denounced proposals by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to relax important restrictions on Canadian wheat in an anti-inflation attempt to combat sky-rocketing food prices in this country.

The treasury chief, in a speech last night before the Boston Advertising Club, called for release of huge government supplies of farm commodities now held under loan, and importation of wheat from Canada "in larger volume," to prevent "a damaging rise in prices."

* Sen. Arthur Capper (R) Kans., powerful member of the senate farm bloc, termed Morgenthau's suggestions "all wrong."

WILLKIE WANTS MELLETT CALLED IN MOVIE PROBE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—Denouncing as "a fanciful concoction" allegation that the government has encouraged motion picture war propaganda, Wendell L. Willkie, counsel for the industry, today demanded that a Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee call Lowell Mellett, presidential aide, to the witness stand.

Willkie's demand was issued as the subcommittee, considering a resolution for investigation of alleged propaganda in the movies, prepared to begin its second day's hearings with Sen. Bennett Clark (D) Mo., as the first witness.

Clark, who joined Sen. Nye (R) N. D., in sponsoring the resolution for a sweeping investigation is expected to charge that the movies issue propaganda pictures to fan the war spirit in this country.

PRESIDENT DELAYS RAILROAD WALK OUT

F. D. R. TO NAME BOARD OF FIVE TO SIFT CRISIS

Strike Call Set For Monday Becomes Ineffective As Roosevelt Acts

ALL ROADS INVOLVED

Executive Prepares To Go On Air Thursday Night For Vital Address

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 10—President Roosevelt today took a personal hand in settling the threatened railroad strike.

The President stayed the strike for at least sixty days by setting up a special mediation board of five members under his legal powers.

Fourteen non-operating unions with a membership of 900,000 had voted to walk out tomorrow, while the five big operating brotherhoods had set September 15 for their strike. In all, 1,250,000 workers and nearly every railroad in the country are involved.

Granted scarcely a brief respite, in which to bury his beloved mother, from the numerous problems of his office, the President disposed of the threatened railroad strike even while the world waited his words on the foreign situation to be broadcast tomorrow night.

Sinking of two American ships and the Greer incident were expected to shape the wording of the broadcast, described as "major importance."

However the President laid aside for a moment preparation of his speech to take a hand in the railroad situation.

The chief executive acted under provisions of the Railway Labor Act, which stipulates that in event of any threatened strike which ordinary progress of negotiation cannot settle, the President may appoint a special board of inquiry.

That board has 30 days to sift all of the evidence, and an additional 30 days in which to report.

During the 60-day interim, the employees are bound not to leave their jobs.

At his Hyde Park home this morning, President Roosevelt signed the proclamation necessary to put this final mediation machinery into effect.

The wage dispute between the carriers on the one hand, the non-operating unions the operating unions and the railway express employees on the other, had been tackled by the National Mediation (Continued on Page Eight)

SIX ARMY MEN ABOARD BOMBER LOST IN WEST

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 10—Searchers hoped for clearing weather to allow planes to take off today in the hunt for a missing Army bomber with six men aboard.

Rain and poor visibility yesterday grounded the rescue planes, but the hunt was continued by parties on foot and in automobiles, throughout the Puget Sound area.

The bomber, a B-18-A Douglas ship, on a routine night training flight from McChord Field to Spokane and back, was last heard from at 4:59 a. m. yesterday, when it reported it was about five minutes flight east of Seattle.

A report at Vancouver, Wash., that the plane had been located last night, was denied at McChord Field.

Aboard were Second Lieut. Edward H. Valorz, Chicago, pilot; Second Lieut. John H. Winship, Riverside, Cal., co-pilot; Staff Sergeant Robert Dexter, Victorville, Cal., radio operator; Staff Sergeant James W. Page, Seagoville, Tex., flight engineer; and Private Jack Huppert, Milwaukee, and Private Milford Knight, St. Louis, passengers.

THIRD CHILD IN AKRON FAMILY POLIO VICTIM

AKRON, Sept. 10—A third child of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Klein was dead today of infantile paralysis while the condition of two boys remained critical.

Margaret Ann Klein, 6, died yesterday, while her brother, Edward, 11, and a sister, Ruth, 9, died Monday. The two other children ill with the most critical form of paralysis are William, 7, and Joseph, 8.

The five children underwent operations for removal of their tonsils two weeks ago and physicians attributed the poliomyelitis to weakened condition of nerves of the head and throat muscles.

TEXT OF F. D.'S ADDRESS READY

President To See Leading Aides Tonight After Trip From Home

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—President Roosevelt was on his way back to Washington this afternoon to confer at the earliest possible moment with Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox about the highly important radio address he will make tomorrow night. World repercussions are expected from its delivery.

As the chief executive left his Hyde Park home, where yesterday he buried his mother, White House aides disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt already had completed the text of this speech—and that he would take 25 minutes of radio time instead of the 15 minutes originally scheduled. He speaks from the White House over all networks at 9 p. m.

If the secretaries of state, war and navy are available he will see them at the White House tonight.

Tomorrow morning, the President will confer with congressional leaders.

High official quarters believe President Roosevelt will condemn as piratical acts the submarine attacks on the two American-owned ships in the North Atlantic and the aerial sinking of the (Continued on Page Eight)

Patrolman Charles Bonney told the story today.

Patrolling in Brockton Fair Zoo he found Chapman in with the lions, busily digging a hole in the ground.

Asked what he was doing, Chapman said he had won $200 on the ponies and was burying it with the lions for safe-keeping.

Contract for construction of the bombers totals $347,156,670.

Nazis Order Norwegians To Give Up All Radios; Disorder Rumors Heard

OSLO, Sept. 10—(via Berlin)—A state of emergency was declared in Oslo and surrounding territory by Reich Commissar Josef Terboven today as the result of activities by "Communist and Marxist elements."

The measure was made necessary, an official announcement said, because of efforts by trade unionists and executives to disturb labor peace and pave the way for strikes.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 10—Dispatches from Oslo reported today that German police in Norway have ordered confiscation of all radio receiving sets in the cities of Oslo, Aker, Asker and Baerum except those owned by Germans or members of Major Vidkun Quisling's pro-Nazi party.

Residents of Oslo were requested to turn in their radios to police beginning this morning. The reports said between 30,000 and 40,000 sets will be seized.

(A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said a state of emergency had been declared in Oslo "because Communist and Marxist elements in the trade unions . . . recently have been disturbing work in a criminal manner by the preparation of strikes.")

The broadcast said the state of emergency was ordered by Josef Terboven, Nazi commissioner for occupied Norway, and that Oslo police issued orders imposing a curfew on the city from 8 p. m. to 5 a. m.

(It added that Oslo motion picture houses and theatres will remain closed, the public dancing is banned, that all restaurants will close at 7 p. m., and that no alcoholic drinks will be sold.)

(In addition, the British radio said, all transports except railways must stop after 7:30 p. m., and "police threatened that all opposition to these orders would be broken by force.")

FBI ESPIONAGE SYSTEM TOLD TO FEDERAL JURY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—For the last 18 months, FBI agents have been working in close link with German spies, sending to the Reich via short wave radio false information about the American army, defense production, and convoys, it was disclosed today in federal court.

The bold stroke of counter-espionage was revealed as U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy presented further evidence at the trial of 16 Nazi spies who have been charged with conspiring to send American military secrets to Germany. Seventeen other operatives have confessed.

Existence of the "secret" radio station, located at Centerport on Long Island, and its activities were described to Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers and a jury by William G. Sebald, German-born American citizen, and counter-espionage agent, who testified that G-men built and operated the station.

Late taxpayers were pouring into the county treasurer's office Wednesday as Treasurer Robert Colville prepared to close the tax books at 4 p. m.

The treasurer estimated at noon Wednesday that $10,000 in taxes would come in before his office closed. Total tax collection probably will run around $215,000.

European Bulletins

CAIRO—A violent R. A. F. attack on the Sicilian port of Palermo was announced in a British middle east communique today. The announcement said many direct hits were scored on docks, sheds, jetties and a drydock in the raid, staged Sunday night and early Monday. South African bombers yesterday attacked the Libyan ports of Derna and Bardia and the garrison of Fort Capuzzo.

LONDON—A Reuters (British) dispatch today quoted the free Belgian news agency as stating that riots have occurred in the German cities of Berlin, Cologne and Aix-La-Chapelle. Troops were stated to have fired on the rioting crowds in Cologne.

LONDON—The London Daily Express today quoted a neutral diplomat who has just reached the British capital as saying foreign ambassadors and Nazi party leaders in Germany have left Berlin and are living in the country 20 or 30 miles outside the city to escape Anglo-Russian air raids.

LONDON—Bad weather during the night temporarily halted Anglo-German aerial warfare, it was understood today. No R. A. F. attacks on Germany were reported and the British Isles were believed free of Nazi raiders.

CARL HELWAGEN DEAD AT 51 IN PORTLAND, ORE.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Helwag, East Main Street, received word Wednesday of the death earlier in the day of their son, Carl W. Helwag, 51, in Portland, Oregon. He entered a Portland hospital, Monday, suffering from pneumonia.

Mr. Helwag had been a resident of the west coast city for many years, leaving Circleville when he was about 18 years of age.

Survivors include his widow, a native of Portland; his parents, and three sisters, Mrs. Carl Heer and Mrs. Ida Shaffer of Columbus and Mrs. Ralph Ward of Circleville.

Funeral services will be conducted in Portland.

HUNT FOR AIRPLANE LOST NEAR CAMBRIDGE FUTILE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10—An airplane crash was reported to the State Highway patrol today but patrolmen were unable to find any evidence of a crashup.

A transport pilot landed at 11:06 last night and reported sighting the wreckage of an airplane near New Cumberland, south of Cambridge. Highway patrolmen searched the region but found no grounded plane.

In addition, a checkup by the Civil Aeronautics Authority showed all planes accounted for.

German Headway In Attempt To Take Odessa Halted By Great Losses

Berlin Says Three Of Foe's Major Centers Raided By Air Force

MOSCOW, Sept. 10—A smashing counter drive by the Red army on the Central Front, where more than 100,000 Nazi troops already have been shattered, was declared today to be approaching the key fortress town of Smolensk in one of the greatest Soviet successes of the war.

Military quarters in Moscow stated the Russians were nearing shell-scarred Smolensk after Vice Foreign Commissar S. A. Lozovsky declared:

"Marshal Timoshenko's offensive on the Central Front is continuing."

Lozovsky added that Moscow had received no official information regarding German claims that Schlusburg, on the south shore of Lake Ladoga, 25 miles east of Leningrad, had been captured by the Nazis.

(Editor's Note: A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said "there are some reports that Smolensk itself has been recaptured" by the Soviets. In an earlier broadcast the London radio announcer declared Lozovsky at Moscow "would not deny" that Smolensk had been retaken.

(The London Daily Mail reported from Stockholm that as a result of the reported Soviet victory on the Central Front the Germans are not making headway against the Black Sea port of Odessa.

(This dispatch said Chancellor Hitler ordered Gen. Von Leeb: "Leningrad must be taken quickly at all costs. The German armies you command are needed for other immediate tasks."

(The Mail added that hundreds of Nazi dive-bombers have been attacking Leningrad continuously, and estimated the Germans had lost 80,000 men killed, wounded or captured, in the fighting around Yelna.)

Plane Loss Reported

In its midnight communique, the Russian high command reported "stubborn fighting" along the entire front and said 71 German planes were destroyed September 7 while Red air losses were held to 24 machines.

The Moscow radio announced that anti-aircraft guns and night fighters dispersed a small group of German planes that attempted to raid the Russian capital during the night.

This account said not a single German plane penetrated to the city proper and that one raider was shot down over the outskirts.

Another Moscow radio broadcast said the German and Romanian forces attacking Odessa are "sustaining heavy losses" and that many of the Romanian divisions on that front are at "not more than 20 to 25 percent of their manpower."

The Russian announcer said all streets in Odessa have been barricaded and that all factories and houses there are guarded day and night.

BERLIN, Sept. 10—New Luftwaffe bombing attacks on Leningrad, Moscow and Odessa were announced officially in Berlin today.

The air attacks on Leningrad were carried out to prevent Soviet attempts to escape from the beleaguered city by way of Lake Ladoga, it was stated.

German authorities estimated that at least 1,000,000 Russian troops are within the encircled city, the second largest in the USSR.

In addition to the air raids, Leningrad also remained under (Continued on Page Eight)

CHILLAGERS FIND $3,140 IN POT FOR TOWN PARK

Committee At Ashville Seeks $5,000 For Swimming Pool And Bath House

EARLY SUCCESS HINTED

Two Injured Auto Drivers Reported Improving; Other News Notes

About a dozen or so of the swimming pool fund solicitors, met at the council house Tuesday in their first confab to compare notes and report the number and who had been solicited and with what success.

Of the $5,000 estimated required for the construction of the pool and bath house, $3,140 has been secured. A number is yet to be solicited and several asked for a return call.

The members of the soliciting committee are much pleased with the amount they have received and feel right next to sure the $5000 is easily in sight and say there will be "no lay down and quit" until the goal has been reached and the pool and bath house are in actual operation.

Reports from Harley Musselman and Paul Partee well shook-up, cut and considerably bruised in their auto collision up the pike the other morning, are that they are getting along well and will be going again in a few days. Autos considerably damaged.

The picture show people, he, she and it, this "it" a fine lad, are with us again after a couple days out at their home. Mr. Meadows, besides a picture show operator, we learned, is a type-setting machine man of no just ordinary ability. Prospects were never better for Ashville to again have a picture show.

The drivers' licenses sales and writing force at Brinkers' distributing shop were plenty busy on the beginning day, Monday, writing 36 permits as compared to fifteen, the number written on beginning day last year. And Tuesday the writers were equally busy. Buying of licenses now will much ease up the "rush period" at near the close.

Had rain in plenty here last night and this morning at 7, prospects are good for another hot day. This is hybrid seed corn inspection plot day out at Roger Hedges' place with a number of the "big boys" there, including our own Thad Parks, entomologist-bug man.

KENTUCKY YOUTH FIRST LOST WITH ROYAL FORCE

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The first American RAF airman to be lost during a raid on Berlin was revealed today as 20-year-old Sergeant-Pilot William Mekalmus, a native of Kentucky.

He has been listed as missing after participating in Sunday night's mass raid on Berlin. Slim and noted among fellow airmen for his gaiety, Mekalmus was one of the few Americans serving with the bomber command.

F. D. Returns To Desk After Mother's Rites

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—President Roosevelt today returned his closest attention to the stern world developments that threaten the peace and security of the United States.

The chief executive was calmly aware that grief would not bring back his 87-year-old mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, whom he buried in the Hyde Park family plot beside his father yesterday afternoon.

Ahead of Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow night is delivery of a world-wide radio address of "major importance," to be sent out over the air waves on every available facility and in 14 different languages.

In view of the undecisive battle between a German submarine and the U. S. destroyer Greer last week, coupled with subsequent disclosure of the sinking of an American - operated merchant craft southwest of Iceland and the destruction of a second American flag ship in the Red Sea, the President's pronouncement was expected to reverberate in every world capital. He will go on the air from the White House in Washington at 9 p. m.

Mr. Roosevelt had planned to deliver this address last Monday night. Sudden death Sunday of his mother impelled postponement until tomorrow night, but his assistants have given no indication that its momentous character in any way will be dimmed.

Churchill Talk Recalled

Observers wondered whether British Prime Minister Winston Churchill had possibly given any indication of its nature when he told the House of Commons that he and the President had reached highly important decisions at their historic high seas conference both to aid Soviet Russia in her death struggle with Nazi Germany and to check further Japanese aggression in the Far East. Churchill said frankly that Britain hoped for even "greater help" from the United States Navy.

The nation in any event knew that the President already had given U. S. fighting ships orders to shoot in all future encounters with German submarines or raiders in the North Atlantic, and had directed that the Nazi U-boat

MADISON STRICKEN WITH SCARLET CHILD WITH FEVER

A first grader at Madison Township School was quarantined for scarlet fever Tuesday afternoon, and Wednesday county health officers were checking all first graders at the school to keep other cases from developing.

Quarantined was Walter Swoyer, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Swoyer, Madison Township. The youngster was at school Monday, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, said, but did not report to school Tuesday. The family, including Walter, the father and mother and a 2½ year old daughter, was quarantined late Tuesday.

Dr. Blackburn said the Swoyer boy had been placed under the care of a local physician and appeared to have only a mild case of the disease. The first grade at Madison Township will be checked every day for the rest of this week, however, Dr. Blackburn said.

SOLUTION TO ATTACK ON FARM WIFE IS REPORTED

A twenty-eight-year-old Columbus Negro has confessed criminal assault on a 30-year-old Lithopolis farm wife, solving a case which has kept sheriff's officers in Pickaway, Fairfield and Franklin Counties busy for the last ten months.

Fairfield County Sheriff Dudley Cridder said the Negro is Eddie Turner, who is being held in Columbus under $40,000 bond for a series of rapes and armed robberies on Columbus women.

Turner is alleged to have attacked the Lithopolis woman, mother of a three-year-old son, last November 1 in her home 2½ miles southeast of Lithopolis. Husband of the woman was in Circleville at the time of the assault and is expected to confer with Fairfield County officers before the case goes before the grand jury next month.

Pickaway County Outdoors

The hunting season for squirrel will open in Pickaway County Monday and will continue until September 30. Every hunter should observe the usual precautions with reference to the safe use of firearms while hunting squirrels. The daily bag limit is four, and after the first day a hunter may have eight in his possession. Squirrels may not be shipped out of the state. When a license is purchased and a copy of the game laws secured with it, it is wise to check the laws carefully to see that they are not obsolete.

Almost all of our hunting laws have been revised and amended in order to clarify certain sections which sometimes caused controversy in the past. Some of these changes will be mentioned in this column from time to time. The groundhog for instance has been made a game quadruped. Formerly the groundhog had no standing as a game animal. One must have a hunting license to hunt groundhogs.

No person shall hunt or trap any wild bird or wild quadruped within the state without first having applied for and received a hunting and trapping license as required herein. But the owner, and the children of the owner of lands, residing in the state, or the tenant or children of the tenant, may hunt thereon without a hunting and trapping license.

Therefore in order to hunt crows, sparrows, starlings, hawks or owls one must have a hunting and trapping license, since those birds are come under the classification of wild birds. Hawks and owls may be taken when destroyed property. Sparrows, starlings, and crows may be taken at any time except Sunday and their nests destroyed. Blackbirds may be taken at any time except Sunday when they are doing damage or have become a nuisance. Sunday hunting of all birds or animals is prohibited.

It will be noticed that the tenant or manager of a farm must have a license to hunt on the lands rented or managed unless the tenant or manager resides on said lands. A tenant is one who has rented lands at cash or grain rent. A person who lives on lands and works by the day is not a tenant. The pheasant distribution for the year is practically complete. Pheasants have been released in all townships of the county. The distribution in each township has been managed largely by the director for that township. The director in the township is an official of the Farmers and Sportsmen's Association who acts as a leader in conservation work in his particular township. This year the total distribution will amount to more than 1100 birds for the entire county. That number includes about 150 mature birds which have been released at two different times earlier in the year. Reports from farmers throughout the county indicate there have been good hatches of pheasants in the fields. These of course furnish the principal supply of birds and sportsmen and farmers everywhere should do all they can to maintain a good habitat for them throughout the year. Cover lanes along the fencerows, food patches, unpastured spots in the woodlands and winter feeding will assist materially in raising a good crop of pheasants annually.

Game Management Agent C. E. Webb is checking the unit plantings of trees made throughout the county last spring. Records of the survival of these plantings are kept in the office of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources. More units of such trees probably will be available next spring. A unit consists of 125 pine trees with 42 food trees which are planted near the pine plantation. Now is the time to think about setting apart a space for a unit plantation next year.

At the State Fair this year Miss Virginia Ater of Williamsport won three first premiums on Conservation Posters which were entered in the Conservation exhibit of the Junior Fair. Her awards for these premiums totaled $4.50. Miss Zella Dewey of New Holland won a first and a second premium totaling $2.75. More of our young folks should exhibit in this department.

One of the mature raccoons released in the county Aug. 19 wandered into the garden and finally into a shed on the premises of Mr. Cooper in South Bloomfield. Mr. Cooper attracted the raccoon into a barrel and later he was taken to Don Courtwright's Farm where the raccoon was put in a cage for safe keeping while he recovers from a serious wound, probably received from dogs.

ANOTHER POULTRY HOUSE REPORTS SALES BY ERWIN

A letter to Sheriff Charles Radcliff from the Gotterdam poultry establishment on South Parsons Avenue, Columbus, revealed Wednesday that Henry Erwin, Wellston chicken thief slain last Friday morning by Joseph Porter, Saltcreek Township had sold $37.86 worth of chickens there during July and August. The sales bring to $328.44 the amount of Erwin's chicken sales in Columbus, he having sold $290.58 at the poultry store of Samuel Goldfarb, 330 South Washington Avenue, Columbus.

City Needs Trained Men To Fight Flames, Says Wise If Bombing Comes

"What additional equipment would you need in case Circleville were bombed" was one of the questions asked Fire Chief Talmer Wise in a questionnaire sent to the fire department by the state fire marshal's office. In answering the questionnaire, Chief Wise pointed out that the greatest need would be for trained men who could handle fire fighting apparatus. The local fire department could use an aerial truck with automatic extension ladders and one additional pump and ladder outfit, the fire chief also pointed out.

For a city of its size, Circleville is fairly well equipped with fire fighting apparatus, the fire chief said in his report, having three pumpers in good working condition, and a fourth which might be put into operation in case of an emergency.

Possibility of Circleville being bombed seems remote, but the city lies on the intersection of two federal highways, Routes 22 and 23, and a well directed bomb could block both highways to the free transportation of troops and supplies, some officials reason.

When Mary Queen of Scots was executed, her skye terrier had to be dragged away from her dead body. He later died of a broken heart.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. # GERMAN PLANE HIT FREIGHTER, CREW DECLARES

All Men Aboard Sunken Steel Seafarer Safe In Red Sea Port

CRAFT WELL LIGHTED

Egyptian Natives Provide Aid On Island; Story Of Attack Told

By Kenneth Downs
A RED SEA PORT, Sept. 10—Safe in port after an unidentified plane sank their ship, 36 officers and crew members of the sunken American lease-lend freighter Steel Seafarer declared today that the vessel was fully lighted, with an illuminated American flag at the stern, when the bomber attacked.

Several members of the crew indicated their belief that the bomber was a German plane, but there was no official verification of this.

Virtually all members of the crew agreed, however, that the attacking plane glided down with motors idling to a point within 150 feet of the ship before dropping the bomb or aerial torpedo that sent the vessel to the bottom of the Red Sea.

Because of this and the illumination of the ship, they declared, the attacking airmen could not mistake the identity of the American freighter.

(Editor's Note: An official communique issued in Rome last night stated that the "alleged sinking" of an American ship in the Red Sea was "natural" since the Red Sea and the Suez Canal have been declared a blockade zone by Italy.)

The 36 survivors were brought to this port aboard two vessels, a British warship and a Danish merchant vessel.

It was revealed the Steel Seafarer carried a typical lease-lend cargo, such as motor transports, various army stores, R. A. F. spare parts and accessories and machinery and also a small amount of commercial cargo.

The 24 crew members who arrived on the British war vessel declared angrily that the attacking bomber swooped low at 11 p. m. Friday to strike its deadly blow at the vessel.

Unharmed by their experience, they declared the Steel Seafarer sank within 20 minutes after the missile was dropped and exploded with a shattering crash.

Twenty-four of the survivors rowed in two boats for 12 hours to an island in the Red Sea where Egyptian natives helped them set up signals which finally, after 24 more hours, attracted a British warship.

Soon afterward the remaining 12 survivors were picked up from a third lifeboat by the Danish vessel.

All the survivors praised the conduct of the Steel Seafarer's captain, John Holliday of Baltimore, Md.

First Officer Ralph Pratt of New York City calmly related the facts of the sinking and concluded by saying:

"I'd give a lot to lay my hands on that—Jerry who did that." Pratt's use of the term "Jerry" evidently indicated his belief that the attacking plane was a German machine. A similar view was expressed by the helmsman, Robert Cartwright, and by still another unidentified member of the crew who remarked:

"One good thing was that the Nazi plane did not return to machine gun us."

Story Related
Pratt told the story of the attack as follows:

"The plane came over at 11 p. m. Friday. It glided down and then opened its throttle with a roar when the bomb was dropped. There were two explosions in the No. 5 oil tank and amidships. At the time we were steaming northward and were not in convoy.

"The plane swooped over between the masts. The bomb—or it may have been an aerial torpedo—seemed to hit and explode just under the water.

"I was asleep at the time. All the lights suddenly went out. Grabbing my slippers, I reached

They left the vessel just two minutes before the freighter upended and then slid from sight.

it is apparent that there is plenty of hoarding.

Wallace's Board has three courses open to it in cracking down on speculators and hoarders:

(1) It can seize the excess stockpiles at a government-fixed price; (2) it can deprive the companies of raw materials until they have exhausted their hoardings; (3) it can require them to use their reserves wholly for defense and essential civilian goods.

NOTE: For military reasons, results of the Wallace Board survey are closely guarded, but certain industries are due for drastic cuts in their priority grants. Their returns show that they were allowed to obtain quantities of materials far beyond the amount of defense they are now producing.

The State Department is planning to hire Lawrence Cramer, whom Ickes fired as Governor of the Virgin Islands, to head its new bureau in charge of the Caribbean Islands. Yet the State Department wants this new bureau to cooperate with Ickes regarding U. S. islands in the Caribbean.

Dave Niles has been requested to soften Ickes for the Cramer appointment. . . . Just before the Nazi submarine attack on the U. S. Destroyer Greer, three U. S. tankers had proceeded to Iceland where they transhipped oil to British tankers, which then proceeded to England. . . . This cut the usual ocean haul for the British by about one-third. And of course the U. S. tankers had U. S. protection as far as Iceland. . . . Despite the howls of General Maxwell, Budget Director Harold Smith has shaved the budget of Maxwell's Export Control office from $3,000,000 to $1,000,000. This is the office which passes life or death sentences on the right of Latin American countries to obtain vital materials here.

SQUIRREL DIPLOMACY
Tail, curly haired Australian Minister Richard G. Casey became involved in a rather delicate situation during a recent trip to Oklahoma—but, diplomat that he is, he wiggled out.

The situation had to do with squirrel meat.

Casey went to Oklahoma to address the State American Legion convention at Muskogee, and while there was invited to a squirrel and spare-rib barbecue at a nearby country club. All went well until a platter of the main course was placed before him. Suddenly the Australian Minister lost his appetite.

"What's the trouble, Mr. Minister?" inquired Representative Jack Nichols. "Aren't you hungry?"

"Oh, yes," replied Casey, nibbling at a spare-rib. "But you see this squirrel meat is new to me. We don't have any squirrels in Australia."

"Go ahead and try some," someone urged. "You'll like it."

Squirrel is a great delicacy in this country."

But Casey still hesitated. Then, flashing his handsomest smile, he explained:

"You see, my little girl, who is 12 and my boy, who is 9, hadn't seen any squirrels until they came to this country, and they became quite attached to them in Washington parks. In fact, my boy is so fond of squirrels that he put me on my honor not to eat any squirrels when I left Oklahoma."

AMERICA FIRST FUNDS
The America First Committee has steadfastly refused to divulge any information about its source of funds or size of contributions. But as a result of the recent special congressional election in the First Wisconsin District, the Wisconsin branch of the America Committee may be forced to open its books.

State Attorney General John E. Martin has announced his intention to order the chapter to file an official report on its expenditures in the contest.

The America First organization took a very active part in the campaign in behalf of Lawrence H. Smith, successful Republican candidate who ran on an isolationist platform, and Wisconsin law requires all organizations participating in political campaigns to file detailed expense accounts. Martin now holds this over the America First Committee. Whether it will submit a report remains to be seen. So far the Committee has been very secretive about its finances.

DUTCH VS. NAZIS
Diplomatic dispatches indicate that popular unrest is rampant not only in France but in the low countries as well.

In the Dutch towns of Haarlem, a Dutch Nazi leader named Anton Mussert rose to deliver an address inaugurating a Dutch Nazi district building. As soon as he opened his mouth, hundreds of bicycle bells began to ring in chorus.

This sabotage was kept up until police cleared the unruly elements away from the building. When that was done, there was no one left in the audience except the Burgomaster of Haarlem and Nazi officials.

Bloomfield's Suit For Compensation Assigned

Pickaway County's September term petit jury will be called in for the first time next Monday when it will hear the case of E. F. Bloomfield, Circleville, against the Container Corporation of America.

In the action, Bloomfield, a machine oiler for Container, asks for compensation for injuries he received when working for the company in 1934. Bloomfield claims that as a result of a fall he received at the Container plant, he is entitled to compensation for the time he lost from work. When the accident happened the Container Corporation was a self-insured company. Since then it has adopted the state system of workmen's compensation.

The following week, the jury will hear the John T. White case. White, originally from Clarksburg, W. Va., is alleged to have passed a $3,200 check on the Pickaway Livestock Association as payment on a shipment of hogs. He has remained in County Jail for months pending action of the court. Judge Meeker Terwilliger has appointed Emmitt Crist to assist the prosecutor in the case and C. A. Weldon has been appointed to defend White.

On September 29, a statutory case involving Miss Ruth Cain and D. E. Ruff Jr., South Bloomfield, will come before the jury for hearing.

Petit jurors who will be summoned in for duty Monday are Harold Gibson, Jackson Township; Paul Hankins, Washington Township; George Goeller, Wash-

CONCERNING THE CROW

A GROUP of farmers in New Jersey want Congress to declare a national crow week to help them save their crops. The idea is to have licensed gunners, sportsmen, farmers and the men in the CCC camps turn out in force to exterminate the birds. In a petition sent to their Representative they said:

"The thieving birds descend into a field in such large numbers here that very often there is nothing left which is fit to send to market."

It probably wouldn't appease those harassed farmers to refer them to an encyclopedia which says of the hated crow.

"Although it formerly had a bad reputation as a corn thief, it is now recognized as a beneficial bird and a true friend of the farmer because of the vast number of injurious insects which it destroys."

It's a condition, not a scientific theory, that troubles the New Jersey group. So long as the crows in their neighborhood destroy a large portion of their grains, fruits and vegetables they can't be expected to worry about the insect pests from which the crows supposedly save them. Is there no wise solution to this problem, something which will save them from one evil without exposing them to another?

Here's a challenge to some bright young farmer or ornithologist.

ROYAL MARKSWOMAN

QUEEN Elizabeth of England, it develops, among her varied accomplishments has become a good shot with the rifle and revolver. She was coached by army men and practiced long and faithfully on a range used by the Home Guard at Buckingham Palace. She uses British Army weapons, but with the rifle tube made a little smaller than usual.

With such a pattern, if for no better reason, a lot of Englishwomen are doubtless getting gun practice nowadays. It's fine for self-control and a steady eye and arm, and wouldn't do American women any harm.

Some of the soldier boys say they're getting fed up with all this palaver about whether they're sick of their jobs, and if so, why?

Neat epithet coming out of its context on a dial twist: "The little beast of Berchtesgaden."

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

HERR HITLER'S and Signor Mussolini's decision, at their recent meeting near Adolf's Muscovite front, to occupy all of European Russia but to leave Siberia to the Soviets, probably was arrived at, partly at least, to reassure Japan, so the Washington state department inclines to think.

News of the two dictators' agreement arrived here from Rome, and was not official. It was published, however, in Vittorio Gayda's newspaper, the Giornale d'Italia, and Vittorio virtually is Benito's mouthpiece.

It's recognized that Der Fuehrer undoubtedly did all the actual deciding but the surprise is that he chose to let the report come out through Il Duce's press, perhaps to inflate his extremely junior partner's ego a trifle, since it must have suffered considerably of late from the obviousness of the smallness of its proprietor, as a potato, in comparison with Adolf — and the time hasn't quite come for the latter to bake, boil or fry the lesser vegetable yet.

Besides the Japanese consideration, it's guessed that Adolf really believes, at present, that pushing his Russian campaign east of the Urals would involve operations at too long range.

The Japs, though, have given evidence of needing some appeasing, to keep 'em in line with the Axis hook-up.

There's nothing definite, but hints have come from Tokyo of whispering among influential statesmen and militarists there to the effect that the Nazis would be exceedingly dangerous to Nippon in control of the Siberian east coast and down to the border of the Mikado's mainland territory.

THEY LICKED RUSSIA ONCE
The Japs don't like the Russians, either, but they're not so much afraid of them. They licked 'em once. It wasn't by a wide margin, but they got the decision. They're not so sure they could do even that over the Nazis—provided the latter completely conquered Russia, European and Asiatic alike, and were given time to dig in. The conquerors wouldn't be fixed to attack 'em immediately, of course, but these Tokyo prophets are looking ahead.

Does all this have anything to do with Tokyo's conspicuous military supplies to Moscow?

They object to having 'em shipped there, naturally. They're tied up to the Axis and such supplies are anti-Axis stuff. Furthermore, in the long run they're apprehensive of Russia. If Germany could whale the tar out of the Muscovites and leave 'em utterly crippled, without gobbling their territory too far to the eastward, Tokyo'd be suited down to the ground. But, as a next-door neighbor, they prefer the Soviets to the Nazis—not that they like the Soviets any better than the Nazis, but they're less scared of the former, not right now but ultimately.

The ideal arrangement for Japan would be to have everybody licked except Nippon. Among the lickees, to make it perfect, from the Japs' standpoint, the United States should be included. Then the Mikado could grab in every direction.

Meanwhile he's on a hot spot. He wants to have war supplies indiscriminately furnished, in order to enable their recipients to kill off one another, but he doesn't want any of 'em to win out 100 percent and then hop on him.

Incidentally the Japs are sore at the United States for sending supplies to Russia that Uncle Sam won't let THEM have. It makes 'em feel discriminated against, which they regard as an insult, and Orientals are very sensitive to being insulted. They "lose face" by it.

MILITARISTS UNPREDICTABLE

And yet they don't think the moment's ripe for 'em to do anything violent. That is, their statesmen don't. There's no telling anything about their militarists. Jap militarists approve of suicide, as a last resort in emergencies. There's no telling what they'll do. Their civil government, though, is more sensible. It's trying to be as sociable with Washington as possible. The unavailability of that is that the militarists do whatever they have a crazy hunch to do, regardless of the rest of the Tokyo government.

But the question is: When Adolf and Benito agreed not to butt into Asiatic Russia, were they intending to notify the Japs not to be afraid of 'em? And will the Japs believe 'em?

Such queries can be put but they can't be answered. It's a case of Oriental inscrutability, to Occidentals.

WASHINGTON — Former King Carol and his companion, Madame Lupescu, currently domiciled in Mexico City, will not visit Washington. They would love to more than anything else. But it's out.

Authority for this interesting item of social news is Mrs. Evie Robert, beauteous blonde wife of the former secretary of the Democratic National Committee. Evie has good grounds for her information. She got it straight from Carol himself.

This is the way it happened: Evie and her husband, "Chip", were dinner guests of Carol and his famed friend. Evie, seated next to the former Rumanian monarch, asked him why he didn't come to Washington.

"The one place I want to go more than anywhere on this hemisphere," he replied with a sigh, "is the capital of your great country. I have heard so much about it, but, alas, cannot do it. It is impossible."

"But why? We are a hospitable people."

"It is this way. Through certain sources an inquiry was made of Mrs. Roosevelt concerning Madame Lupescu. It was asked whether Madame would be received at the White House. The answer from Mrs. Roosevelt was no. Under those circumstances I cannot go to Washington. Much as I want to see your great capital city, I would not go without Madame Lupescu."

HOARDED DEFENSE MATERIALS

The new seven-man Supply, Priorities and Allocation Board, headed by Vice President Wallace, was not just making talk when it warned that "materials hoarded in the cellars and attics of certain industries will be routed out." There is plenty of fire behind this smoke.

It is not generally known, but the new Board is armed to the teeth with authority both to ferret out and to commandeer these hidden stores.

Buried unnoticed in the expanded draft-industry law passed by Congress last May, is this significant language: "The President shall be entitled to obtain such information from, require such reports by, and make such inspection of premises of, any person, firm or corporation as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this section."

Coupled with the greatly enlarged powers to seize property, this clause gives the President sweeping control over all raw materials in private possession. This authority he delegated in toto to Wallace's new Board.

Known only to defense insiders, also, is the fact that a nationwide checkup on hoarded material already is underway.

Inventory questionnaires went out to 65,000 firms, requiring them to make sworn statements on their holdings of 16 basic metals. The Census Bureau is handling the job of tabulating these reports; and from the information so far collected

Presents Ideal Diet List for Expectant Mothers

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

One of my obstetrical friends feels that prospective mothers have a good deal of intelligence, enough to run their own diets. He does not approve of the custom which is becoming prevalent of giving expectant mothers courses of vitamins and charging exorbitant sums for this. (He might make an exception in the case of Vitamin K which is used to prevent the hemorrhage of the new-born.)

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

His plan is to ask the woman to plan her own diet after a little study of what a balanced diet should be. He instructs her to be sure to get the protective foods, particularly milk and green vegetables and fruits, in the diet. Then he asks her to make a list of a diet that she eats for a week and this is brought in to him for supervision.

Gives Sample Diet List

He has kindly furnished me with a sample diet list that was made up and brought in by an expectant mother in the routine course of seeing such patients. He and I both agree that it could not be improved on by the best dietitian in the world.

For the benefit of others, here it is:

CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

YLENA'S FIRST emotion, when Scott Hamilton stalked away so angrily, was one of dismay. Then she grew angry. First Terry Alkire, then Scott. And for quite some time both Rose and Tony had disapproved of her attentions to Tate.

"Barker," she asked the following morning, "am I a perfect fool?" That woman's habitually chilly eyes were even chillier as she looked at her employer. "What shall I say, Ylena? Shall I be truthful or justify my behavior?"

Knowing what the reply would be, Ylena nevertheless said, "Be truthful."

"Then I will be. Yes, you're a perfect fool. And now I'll go on with my work before I say too much." Rudely she bent her crisp gray head over the plans and samples on her desk.

Gradually though, the opinions of Ylena's companions grew less severe. Tate could be very charming when he wished, even to older women like Rose and Barker. Tony knew his ideas were not important to Miss Varanoff so long as he guarded Carlyle. And while he resented her dividing her time between her small daughter and young Cromwell he made no criticism.

After Frankie had been dead a few months, Tate asked Ylena to marry him.

"Let's slip away and be married. People here don't need to know—"

"Oh, Tate, we shouldn't!" All the same, her green eyes were on his earnestly beseeching face. Again she said, "We shouldn't," and then more strongly, "We mustn't!" She walked away from him, to one of the big arched windows.

"Why not?" He moved back of where she stood looking out at the wall of burgundy and gold mountings, about La Madera. A first star shone in the sky. It was a dusky and quiet, romantic moment. "Of course we can. You can make some sort of excuse—shopping, business, anything. I'll do the same. I'll drive over and we'll meet, get married and, for a honeymoon, go to Santa Barbara."

"Oh, no! Not Santa Barbara," Ylena cried, thinking of Terrence Alkire. Her own remark impressed her with the sneaking nature of their plans, yet she did not want to resist.

Tate suggested, "Then we won't make plans to go anywhere in particular. We'll just wear dowdy clothes and go to little insignificant beach towns on the Pacific coast. No one will need to know. Then after Frankie has been dead a year we'll get married all over again. That way, no scandal, everyone is happy, and we're happy in the meantime."

Eventually he beat down her resistance, which had never been strong, and their plans were made to appear most casual. On Sunday afternoon Tate was to come to tea, presumably to bid Ylena farewell, before she took the night train for her business trip to the coast.

"I want to go along, Mamacita," Carlyle lay on her mother's bed and watched with wistful eyes as she packed.

"I'll take you next time, dear. I'll take you over for your birthday."

Hints on Etiquette

In a moving picture house, rising from your seat to let others pass often obscures part of the pictures to those sitting behind you. If possible, pull in your legs sideways instead, if it can be done without tripping those who pass you.

Today's Horoscope

A fortunate year will be experienced by those who have birthdays today. Business and friendships will increase, but beware of some annoyance through indiscretion and impetuosity through love affairs. The child who is born on this date will be artistic, musical, intuitive, generous, and fond of the good things of life. He or she should, however, be warned against extravagance and imposition of friends.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. It varies from a deep shade of brown through to light yellow.
2. The Atlantic Ocean.
3. No.

A tariff is classed as a revenue measure, and must, under the provisions of the Constitution, originate in the house of representatives, not in the senate.

We'll get a beach house and play in the sand all day. Just you and I. Would you like that?"

With a sly hint, Carlyle said, "I'd rather go now." She regarded her mother from beneath straight flaxen bangs and repeated, "I'd rather go now."

Ylena dragged the youngster from the bed into her arms and squeezed her until she giggled. "I'll be much too busy for you, my precious."

"Then let me go up to Scotty's." When she received no answer, Carlyle stopped her mother's work by sitting down on top of the stack of clothes she was packing. "Mamacita, am I ever going to Scotty's again?"

Ylena said, "Of course you are!" When he comes to his senses, she thought with a tight-lipped recollection of the way he had stalked out of her apartment. "You'll see Scotty before very long," she promised to appease the child. "Now run along and have Rose dress you for tea. Tate is coming. Then go play in the patio."

She finished with her luggage, then slipped out of her gold silk affetta housecoat and into the dress in which she later would travel, an apricot-toned flannel. Expertly she rouged her lips and put Tate's favorite perfume in her hair and on her throat. She looked ahead to when she and Tate would meet at the planned destination. Perhaps he would feel better then, less moody, less irritable.

From her room she walked into Rose's and looked out those back windows into the patio. Carlyle was there already, spotless in a fuzzy white Angora sweater suit, playing in the lily pool. She'll be filthy in no time, Ylena fretted, then laughed to herself. What difference did it make? What was a little dirt? Never would she be one of those heckling mothers who took the play out of a child with constant admonitions. All the same, she did groan softly to herself when she saw Carlyle dip cupped hands into the pool and lift out water to stir in a pile of dirt. For several days she had been making unsuccessful attempts at a dam. "Like Scotty used to make, Mamacita. Down where he cut through the orchard with a 'chetty'." From her explanation, Ylena gathered that Scott had been telling the wide-eyed, credulous Carlyle a few tall ones.

Tony found her there. "Don't you want me to watch Carlyle?" "I think she is all right. You can go down when I do." The blond girl pointed the guard to her side and motioned. "Look."

His strong mouth parted in a grin of adoration as he watched her patting in the mud. "She should be dressed in a rubber bathing suit."

"She has to be gorgeous. Mr. Cromwell is coming." The pleasant expression faded from the young Italian's face. Ylena went on, "You'll like him some day, Tony. You'll know it all right."

He defied her. "No, I won't!" Color raged through his already dark skin. "Never, Miss Varanoff. I know it isn't any of my business except that I love Carlyle—but please, please won't you think twice before doing what you're doing."

Those whose birthday it is should have a year of splendid achievement, with plans and projects of large importance progressing to a lively and energetic finish, if subjected to shrewd and subtle strategies rather than main strength or aggressive measures. This also applies to private and emotional situations. Be discreet particularly in the latter.

Weatherman May Decide National Pennant Race

By Jack Mahon

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—Will the most beloved bums in baseball—the Brooklyn Dodgers—get an unexpected assist from the weatherman in their desperate drive to their first pennant since 1920—or will he conspire to break their hearts?

This was one of the major topics of discussion today as the Dodgers made another attempt to get their war of the west under way by meeting the Cubs, for the last time, in a scheduled twin bill. Thundershowers were predicted for this afternoon, following yesterday's deluge which washed out the opener of the two-game series here. Rain also kept the contending St. Louis Cardinals idle on their home grounds against the Phillies.

Since the Dodgers have only 19 games left against the Cards' 21, technically rain helps them more than it hurts them. But there are several possibilities. If the Dodgers and Cards are rained out again today, Brooklyn will rejoice—for two games they might have lost will be eliminated from their schedule and, conversely, two games the Cards might have won will be wiped off the slate.

However, if the Dodgers are cancelled today and the Cards win two, the latter will pick up two precious games on the winning side of the ledger, a full game in the standings—and with two more games left on their schedule would have a mathematical chance of passing the Brooklyn boys in the all-important total wins for the year.

REDS BUY HAAS, STAR OF BIRDIES

Sanders Goes To Cards; Cincinnati Outlasts Boston Braves

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10—Bert Haas, hard-hitting third-sacker for the Columbus Red Birds, American Association pennant winners, today was sold to the Cincinnati Reds of the National League for an unannounced amount of cash, it was announced by Club President Al Banister. He will report next spring.

At the same time Banister announced that First Baseman Ray Sanders had been sold to the St. Louis Cardinals. Sanders was named as the league's outstanding first-year player this season.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10—After a comedy of seven errors, 29 base hits, plus some of the weirdest fielding ever witnessed at Crosley Field, the Cincinnati Reds today squared off again against the Boston Braves in an attempt to clinch third place in the declining National League season.

The Reds won yesterday's game 9-7 before 1,730 fans who took to cover behind screens and posts when the ball clubs started whipping the ball around. Let it suffice that the Reds won, that Lonnie Frey connected for three hits and Frank McCormick, Hank Sauer, rookie outfielder, Ernie Lombard and Bucky Walters got two, and Walters received credit for his 15th triumph of the year.

Today Manager Bill McKechnie will send Paul Derringer to the hill and he will be opposed by Jim Tobin, who has whipped the Reds three times in a row.

JOCKEY, 17, RIDES FOUR WINNERS 'AT HAWTHORNE

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—Don McAndrew, 17-year-old jockey, was the hero of Chicago racing fans today following his feat in riding four straight winners at the Hawthorne park.

McAndrew's grand slam was accomplished despite a series of cloudbursts which at times made a river of the track. In the first race he brought home the favorite, More Refined, by seven lengths. In his second his winner was Alcino; in the third, Sir Kid by a neck, and in the fourth, Little Red Fox by a safe three lengths.

BUCKEYES BEGIN HARD PRACTICE AFTER PREVIEW

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10—During the last two days at Ohio State University's football camp, more than 1000 plates have been exposed by cameramen. Reporters have asked Coach Paul Brown 1,347,291 questions about his first season as director of the destinies of the Scarlet and Gray Buckeyes. But that is all behind now.

Today the 33-year old former Massillon, O., high school coach will get down to business. And from here until the Michigan game at the season's end, Brown has promised his team "work and more work."

"We've got a lot of work to do between now and Sept. 27 when Missouri comes to town," Brown told 40 select candidates yesterday. "We're starting from scratch. What you did in the past won't be remembered. We'll start Wednesday just as though we'd never met before."

"Two a day was the program of practice from now until a week before the Missouri clash in the Stadium, then the practices will be limited to one lengthy afternoon session."

As the fall campaign opened, the Bucks were in top condition, both physically and mentally. The team has forgotten the disastrous 1940 campaign which was concluded with a 40-0 debacle at the hands of the university of Michigan, and some of the old "do or die" spirit has invaded the Stadium locker rooms during the past few days under the new coach.

Close observers at the High Street school, however have pointed out that the material at Ohio State is not as potent as in the past and that a 50-50 season is in prospect.

NEW PUMPKIN SHOW FEATURES OUTLINED FOR BUSINESS MEN

HUGE LIVESTOCK DISPLAY, FINEST BANDS OBTAINED

Hocking Countians Request Right to Bring Their Choice Stock Here

C. C., DIRECTORS GATHER

Circleville Firms Provide Trips To Chicago For Major Winners

Pumpkin Show directors and Chamber of Commerce members met Tuesday night to discuss plans for Circleville's 38th annual Pumpkin Show. Added features and new attractions were outlined.

The meeting was the last the Chamber of Commerce will hold before the Pumpkin Show. Show directors will meet again next Monday night and probably will hold other meetings before the opening of the event October 8.

The new show will feature a larger Junior Fair and livestock show and sale, more parades and bands and special talent features and attractions to take the place of the usual free acts.

F. K. Blair, county agricultural agent, told Chamber members and Pumpkin Show directors that about 50 head of young livestock would be included in the show and sale this year. Calves in three classes, the Shorthorn, Angus and Hereford breeds, will be included.

Mr. Blair said the Hocking County 4-H beef clubs had asked to bring their livestock to the Pumpkin Show for the sale and possibilities are that they will boost the number of calves for sale by quite a sizeable amount. Three tents already have been secured to house the livestock on North and South Pickaway Streets. The tents are 30 feet by 60 feet.

Directors hope that the livestock may be brought to the show Wednesday and held over until Friday for the sale, leaving them on exhibit for two days before they are sold.

Dress Revue Planned
An added feature to the Junior Fair department this year will be a girls' dress revue Thursday evening. Definite plans have not been made for the feature, but directors believe it will take the place of one good free act.

The Circleville Lumber Company, the Ralston Purina Company and J. W. Eschelman and Sons again have agreed to send a livestock winner to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago this fall.

Junior Fair exhibits will find all nine departments taking an active part this year, George McDowell, chairman of the Junior Fair reported at the meeting. Junior Fair exhibits this year will be on display in Memorial Hall.

Musical Units Booked
Nineteen bands and four drum corps are included in the list of organizations invited to participate in the show. Bands which have been secured to play during the afternoons include the Circleville High School band, the county school bands, the Boys' Industrial School band, the Union Furnace band, Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home band of Xenia, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars band. In addition, high school bands from Central Ohio will be here Thursday night to participate in the "Parade of Bands" and county high school bands on Friday night to participate in the county band contest.

The Columbus American Legion Drum Corps, with thirty members, has been invited to the show for two nights.

Hildeburn Martin, in charge of the float displays, reported that he expected about the same number of floats this year as last. Other show directors reported plans for big displays this year. W. Joe Burns, director of the flower show, said favorable weather will bring even more flowers to the show than last year, when the local exhibit was the largest in its class of any exhibit in Ohio.

Thirty-four persons, including Chamber of Commerce members and Pumpkin Show directors, attended the meeting.

The first grant of lands to aid in the construction of a railroad was the act of congress of Sept. 20, 1850, to the state of Illinois.

Sheriff's officers Wednesday continued to hold Charles H. Streitenberger, 24, 312 Knoles Avenue, Chillicothe, for allegedly taking grave markers from Forest Cemetery, although no charges have been filed against the youth.

Sheriff Radcliff said five markers were also missing from the Whisler cemetery and that at least one of them had been sold to the Modelich grave stone company, 796 West Mound Street, Columbus.

It was at the Modelich establishment that Sheriff Radcliff and E. O. Crites, superintendent of Forest Cemetery, identified parts of markers taken from Forest Cemetery during the last few months.

The Streitenberger youth says he "might have taken" the stones.

long-distance German artillery fire, military authorities in Berlin declared, adding that the Russian naval base at Kronstadt likewise is being pounded by heavy guns. The new luftwaffe attacks on Leningrad followed up previous dive-bombing stuka assaults Monday and Monday night.

The war communique from Chancellor Hitler's military headquarters confined its comments on the Russian conflict to the bare statement that "in the east successful attacks are continuing."

Military quarters in Berlin stated, however, that the town of Vjazma, midway between Smolensk and Moscow, has fallen into German hands after heavy fighting.

These quarters claimed that German forces already are advancing beyond Vjazma, which they described as an important railway junction.

OHIO FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN WINTER OATS

Success in raising winter oats in southern Ohio during the last three years by a number of farmers has created quite a general interest in this crop, and county agricultural agents and the agronomy department at Ohio State University get many inquiries.

A report made by F. K. Blair, agricultural agent in Pickaway County, of winter oats grown on the Sagamore Stock Farm, Washington Township, shows why farmers are interested. Mr. Blair says seven pecks of seed per acre were sown September 15, 1940, in a field containing 9.3 acres.

From this field were harvested 820 bushels of winter oats weighing 35 pounds per bushel. The variety was Winter Turf, and the seed was produced in a small plot planted in the fall of 1939 on the same farm.

Winter oats have been tested for a period of years in Ohio by the Experiment Station and by agronomists at the University. These oats are more subject to winter injury than either winter wheat or winter barley, and there is about a 50-50 chance that the oats will not survive a southern Ohio winter.

Another disadvantage of the crop is that it must be seeded about September 15. This makes it nearly impossible to use winter oats in rotation following corn or soybeans.

Recommendation for the use of winter oats in this state includes the warning that the farmer should be prepared to lose the crop about every other year. If the crop survives, it will outyield spring oats two or three times.

Winter oats winter-killed at Columbus in 1940-41, and they are not practical except in southern Ohio.

WHOOPING COUGH FATAL TO ALEXANDER INFANT

Whooping cough caused the death Tuesday afternoon of Rose Emma Alexander, three month old daughter of Forrest and Juanita Alexander, who live in Jackson Township. The child died at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Alexander in Sharon Township, Franklin County.

The parents, paternal grandparents and a sister, Hazel Marvene, survive.

The body will be at the home of the grandparents until it is brought to the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home, East Main Street, at 9 a. m. Thursday where friends may call. It will then be taken to the Dresbach church for services at 10 a. m., the Rev. Paxton officiating.

The State Department has now received word that the German submarine torpedoing of the American destroyer Greer off Iceland was a blind attack. The U-boat, officials said, made no attempt to identify the Greer, but fired blindly at it while submerged.

This information has led the American government to wonder whether Adolf Hitler has ordered unrestricted submarine warfare against all ships suspected of aiding Great Britain.

A full report on the diplomatic aspects of the three incidents is being prepared by the State Department for President Roosevelt.

Selecting Five
The chief executive was in the process today of selecting the five men who will comprise the special board of inquiry. It was not thought, however, that formal appointment of the board would be made until after the President's return to Washington. He was canvassing several men to ascertain whether it would be possible for them to sit in judgment in the wage dispute.

Members of the board, under provisions of the Railway Labor Act, will be paid $75 for every day of actual service plus the customary $5 per diem traveling expenses.

Appended to the President's proclamation were nine pages listing the railroads and the unions involved.

Nye, pointing to praise bestowed on the movies by Mellett, government information director, also asked an investigation to determine whether Washington officials asserted propaganda pressure on the movie industry.

"I am extremely reluctant to dignify further the reckless and unsupported charges made by Sen. Gerald Nye against the motion picture industry," Willkie said, "but Sen. Nye made one serious allegation which I am sure the senate subcommittee will not want to let stand on the record for even one day."

"According to Sen. Nye's fanciful concoction, the federal government directs from Washington the motion picture business on what pictures it should or should not make. Of course Sen. Nye has no proof of this for the simple reason that the charge is completely untrue."

"But when such a charge is made by any U. S. senator, there is great danger that it may be believed by the general public which has no opportunity for personal investigation."

FOUR YOUNGSTERS PLACED ON TWO YEAR PROBATION

Four Circleville youths were placed on two year probations and made wards of Juvenile Court Wednesday, by Judge Lemuel B. Weldon. Each boy was charged with breaking and entering several buildings in the city within the last several months.

The boys were Roy Wallis Jr., 13, West Mound Street; Henry Arthur Wallis, 16, West Mound Street; Samuel Tomlinson, 13, West Huston Street and Harold DeLong, 13, Cottage Hill.

A fifth boy, Harley (Peck) Smith, 16, Hayward Avenue, also implicated in the break-ins, was returned to Boy's Industrial School, Lancaster, from which he had been paroled recently on a breaking and entering charge.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 — The Chicago Bears, world professional football champions, held a 14 to 9 decision over the Brooklyn Dodgers today, with George McAfee, formerly of Duke, rated as the outstanding star of last night's exhibition game between the two teams.

He gave the crowd of nearly 30,000 its biggest thrill in the last minute of play when he returned a punt 75 yards through the entire Dodge team for the touchdown that clinched the game.

McAfee also scored the Bears' first touchdown in the first period on a 25-yard dash after he had taken a lateral from Bill Plasman, who had recovered a blocked kick.

A 43-yard field goal by Merlyn Condit after the Bears' first touchdown gave the Dodgers their initial points, and another field goal by him from the 20 and another by Dean McAdams from the 26 gave the Dodgers a 9 to 7 lead at half-time, but the Dodgers quit scoring there, while McAfee went on with his last minute game clincher.

LOUIS MAY BE IN U. S. SUIT IN THREE WEEKS

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—Unless he applies to his local draft board for reclassification, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis may shed his ring togs for an army uniform in as little as three weeks, it appeared today.

The Brown Bomber was placed in Class I-A yesterday by Chicago draft Board No. 84. He may request reclassification within 10 days if he wishes, and after that would have another 10 days to appeal should the local board fail to defer him.

Previously, the Bomber was listed in Class 3-A because of dependents, including his wife, his mother, his sister, a niece and his father-in-law.

Should Louis choose not to appeal his classification, he would be called for physical examination probably within two weeks, and his start for the army—if he passes—would come soon thereafter. Draft officials possibly will take into account, however, the champion's date with Lou Nova in New York Sept. 29 in a title encounter.

years, brings total supplies to 1,340,000,000 bushels. Domestic consumption, on the other hand, is estimated to be 670,000,000 bushels. In view of unsettled international conditions, exports cannot be accurately forecast, they declared.

Government programs, which have the effect of restricting wheat production by curtailing acreage allotments, now hold up prices at high levels. A net loan rate of 98 cents per bushel is also offered, which has the effect of holding up prices on the market. Release of stocks now held by the government as collateral for loans would tend to depress prices.

FARM LEADERS HIT IDEA OF FLOODING U. S. WHEAT MARTS

Morgenthau's Suggestion Brings Protest From Many Washington Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—Farm leaders in Congress today sharply denounced proposals by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to relax important restrictions on Canadian wheat in an anti-inflation attempt to combat sky-rocketing food prices in this country.

The treasury chief, in a speech last night before the Boston Advertising Club, called for release of huge government supplies of farm commodities now held under loan, and importation of wheat from Canada "in larger volume," to prevent "a damaging rise in prices."

Sen. Arthur Capper (R) Kans., powerful member of the senate farm bloc, termed Morgenthau's suggestions "all wrong."

"We have too much wheat now in this country," he said. "We can easily supply all this country's needs and more too."

"What's to be gained by having two programs to conflict with each other? We don't want any wheat from Canada or Argentina. I think he's all wrong."

Rep. Fulmer (D) S. C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, also assailed the proposal.

"I think it's ridiculous. With all this wheat we have—why would he want to do that? I don't understand," Fulmer said that the agriculture department had asked him to introduce a bill cutting production of wheat next year in view of the recently launched drive to diversify farm production of highly nutritious foods for Britain.

Clark, who joined Sen. Nye (R) N. D., in sponsoring the resolution for a sweeping investigation is expected to charge that the movies issue propaganda pictures to fan the war spirit in this country.

PRESIDENT DELAYS RAILROAD WALK OUT

F. D. R. TO NAME BOARD OF FIVE TO SIFT CRISIS

Strike Call Set For Monday Becomes Ineffective As Roosevelt Acts

ALL ROADS INVOLVED

Executive Prepares To Go On Air Thursday Night For Vital Address

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 10—President Roosevelt today took a personal hand in settling the threatened railroad strike.

The President stayed the strike for at least sixty days by setting up a special mediation board of five members under his legal powers.

Fourteen non-operating unions with a membership of 900,000 had voted to walk out tomorrow, while the five big operating brotherhoods had set September 15 for their strike. In all, 1,250,000 workers and nearly every railroad in the country are involved.

Granted scarcely a brief respite, in which to bury his beloved mother, from the numerous problems of his office, the President disposed of the threatened railroad strike even while the world waited his words on the foreign situation to be broadcast tomorrow night.

Sinkings Important

Sinking of two American ships and the Greer incident were expected to shape the wording of the broadcast, described as of "major importance."

However the President laid aside for a moment preparation of his speech to take a hand in the railroad situation.

The chief executive acted under provisions of the Railway Labor Act, which stipulates that in event of any threatened strike which ordinary progress of negotiation cannot settle, the President may appoint a special board of inquiry.

That board has 30 days to sift all of the evidence, and an additional 30 days in which to report.

During the 60-day interim, the employees are bound not to leave their jobs.

At his Hyde Park home this morning, President Roosevelt signed the proclamation necessary to put this final mediation machinery into effect.

The wage dispute between the carriers on the one hand, the non-operating unions the operating unions and the railway express employees on the other, had been tackled by the National Mediation

SIX ARMY MEN ABOARD BOMBER LOST IN WEST

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 10—Searchers hoped for clearing weather to allow planes to take off today in the hunt for a missing Army bomber with six men aboard.

Rain and poor visibility yesterday grounded the rescue planes, but the hunt was continued by parties on foot and in automobiles, throughout the Puget Sound area.

The bomber, a B-18-A Douglas ship, on a routine night training flight from McChord Field to Spokane and back, was last heard from at 4:59 a. m. yesterday, when it reported it was about five minutes' flight east of Seattle.

A report at Vancouver, Wash., that the plane had been located last night, was denied at McChord Field.

Aboard were Second Lieut. Edward H. Valor, Chicago, pilot; Second Lieut. John H. Winship, Riverside, Cal., co-pilot; Staff Sergeant Robert Dexter, Victorville, Cal., radio operator; Staff Sergeant James W. Page, Seagoville, Tex., flight engineer; and Private Jack Huppert, Milwaukee, and Private Milford Knight, St. Louis, passengers.

THIRD CHILD IN AKRON FAMILY POLIO VICTIM

AKRON, Sept. 10—A third child of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Klein was dead today of infantile paralysis while the condition of two boys remained critical.

Margaret Ann Klein, 6, died yesterday, while her brother, Edward, 11, and a sister, Ruth, 9, died Monday. The two other children ill with the most critical form of paralysis are William, 7, and Joseph, 8.

The five children underwent operations for removal of their tonsils two weeks ago and physicians attributed the poliomyelitis to weakened condition of nerves of the head and throat muscles.

TEXT OF F. D.'S ADDRESS READY

President To See Leading Aides Tonight After Trip From Home

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—President Roosevelt was on his way back to Washington this afternoon to confer at the earliest possible moment with Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox about the highly important radio address he will make tomorrow night. World repercussions are expected from its delivery.

As the chief executive left his Hyde Park home, where yesterday he buried his mother, White House aides disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt already had completed the text of this speech—and that he would take 25 minutes of radio time instead of the 15 minutes originally scheduled. He speaks from the White House over all networks at 9 p. m.

If the secretaries of state, war and navy are available he will see them at the White House tonight. Tomorrow morning, the President will confer with congressional leaders.

High official quarters believe President Roosevelt will condemn as practical acts the submarine attacks on the two American-owned ships in the North Atlantic and the aerial sinking of the (Continued on Page Eight)

The selectees were notified that they would be paid off tomorrow and will be transferred to the enlisted reserve, remaining subject to presidential call for ten years or until they reach the age of 45. Officers said men would be released at the rate of 25 a day from now on.

Contract for construction of the bombers totals $347,156,670.

Nazis Order Norwegians To Give Up All Radios; Disorder Rumors Heard

OSLO, Sept. 10—(via Berlin)—A state of emergency was declared in Oslo and surrounding territory by Reich Commissar Josef Terboven today as the result of activities by "Communist and Marxist elements."

The measure was made necessary, an official announcement said, because of efforts by trade unionists and executives to disturb labor peace and pave the way for strikes.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 10—Dispatches from Oslo reported today that German police in Norway have ordered confiscation of all radio receiving sets in the cities of Oslo, Aker, Asker and Baerum except those owned by Germans or members of Major Vidkun Quisling's pro-Nazi party.

Residents of Oslo were requested to turn in their radios to police beginning this morning. The reports said between 30,000 and 40,000 sets will be seized.

A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said a state of emergency had been declared in Oslo "because Communist and Marxist elements in the trade unions . . . recently have been disturbing work in a criminal manner by the preparation of strikes."

(The broadcast said the state of emergency was ordered by Josef Terboven, Nazi commissioner for occupied Norway, and that Oslo police issued orders imposing a curfew on the city from 8 p. m. to 5 a. m.)

(It added that Oslo motion picture houses and theatres will remain closed, the public dancing is banned, that all restaurants will close at 7 p. m., and that no alcoholic drinks will be sold.)

In addition, the British radio said, all transports except railways must stop after 7:30 p. m., and "police threatened that all opposition to these orders would be broken by force.")

FBI ESPIONAGE SYSTEM TOLD TO FEDERAL JURY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—For the last 18 months, FBI agents have been working in close link with German spies, sending to the Reich via short wave radio false information about the American army, defense production, and convoys, it was disclosed today in federal court.

The bold stroke of counter-espionage was revealed as U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy presented further evidence at the trial of 16 Nazi spies who have been charged with conspiring to send American military secrets to Germany. Seventeen other operatives have confessed.

Existence of the "secret" radio station, located at Centerport on Long Island, and its activities were described to Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers and a jury by William G. Sebald, German-born American citizen, and counter-espionage agent, who testified that G-men built and operated the station.

European Bulletins

CAIRO—A violent R. A. F. attack on the Sicilian port of Palermo was announced in a British middle east communique today. The announcement said many direct hits were scored on docks, sheds, jetties and a drydock in the raid, staged Sunday night and early Monday. South African bombers yesterday attacked the Libyan ports of Derna and Bardia and the garrison of Fort Capuzzo.

LONDON—A Reuters (British) dispatch today quoted the free Belgian news agency as stating that riots have occurred in the German cities of Berlin, Cologne and Aix-La-Chapelle. Troops were stated to have fired on the rioting crowds in Cologne.

LONDON—The London Daily Express today quoted a neutral diplomat who has just reached the British capital as saying foreign ambassadors and Nazi party leaders in Germany have left Berlin and are living in the country 20 or 30 miles outside the city to escape Anglo-Russian air raids.

LONDON—Bad weather during the night temporarily halted Anglo-German aerial warfare, it was understood today. No R. A. F. attacks on Germany were reported and the British Isles were believed free of Nazi raiders.

CARL HELWAGEN DEAD AT 51 IN PORTLAND, ORE.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Helwag, 51, East Main Street, received word Wednesday of the death earlier in the day of their son, Carl W. Helwag, 51, in Portland, Oregon. He entered a Portland hospital, Monday, suffering from pneumonia.

Mr. Helwag had been a resident of the west coast city for many years, leaving Circleville when he was about 18 years of age.

HUNT FOR AIRPLANE LOST NEAR CAMBRIDGE FUTILE

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10—An airplane crash was reported to the State Highway patrol today but patrolmen were unable to find any evidence of a crashup.

A transport pilot landed at 11:06 last night and reported sighting the wreckage of an airplane near New Cumberland, south of Cambridge. Highway patrolmen searched the region but found no grounded plane.

In addition, a checkup by the Civil Aeronautics Authority showed all planes accounted for.

Berlin Says Three Of Foe's Major Centers Raided By Air Force

MOSCOW, Sept. 10—A smashing counter drive by the Red army on the Central Front, where more than 100,000 Nazi troops already have been shattered, was declared today to be approaching the key fortress town of Smolensk in one of the greatest Soviet successes of the war.

Military quarters in Moscow stated the Russians were nearing shell-scarred Smolensk after Vice Foreign Commissar S. A. Lozovsky declared:

"Marshal Timoshenko's offensive on the Central Front is continuing."

Lozovsky added that Moscow had received no official information regarding German claims that Schluselburg, on the south shore of Lake Ladoga 25 miles east of Leningrad, had been captured by the Nazis.

(Editor's Note: A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said "there are some reports that Smolensk itself has been recaptured" by the Soviets. In an earlier broadcast the London radio announcer declared Lozovsky at Moscow "would not deny" that Smolensk had been retaken.)

(The London Daily Mail reported from Stockholm that as a result of the reported Soviet victory on the Central Front the Germans are not making headway against the Black Sea port of Odessa.)

(This dispatch said Chancellor Hitler ordered Gen. Von Leeb: "Leningrad must be taken quickly at all costs. The German armies you command are needed for other immediate tasks.")

(The Mail added that hundreds of Nazi dive-bombers have been attacking Leningrad continuously, and estimated the Germans had lost 80,000 men killed, wounded or captured, in the fighting around Yelna.)

Plane Loss Reported

In its midnight communique, the Russian high command reported "stubborn fighting" along the entire front and said 71 German planes were destroyed September 7 while Red air losses were held to 24 machines.

The Moscow radio announced that anti-aircraft guns and night fighters dispersed a small group of German planes that attempted to raid the Russian capital during the night.

This account said not a single German plane penetrated to the city proper and that one raider was shot down over the outskirts.

Another Moscow radio broadcast said the German and Romanian forces attacking Odessa are "sustaining heavy losses" and that many of the Romanian divisions on that front are at "not more than 20 to 25 percent of their manpower."

The Russian announcer said all streets in Odessa have been barricaded and that all factories and houses there are guarded day and night.

BERLIN, Sept. 10—New Luftwaffe bombing attacks on Leningrad, Moscow and Odessa were announced officially in Berlin today.

The air attacks on Leningrad were carried out to prevent Soviet attempts to escape from the beleaguered city by way of Lake Ladoga, it was stated.

German authorities estimated that at least 1,000,000 Russian troops are within the encircled city, the second largest in the USSR.

In addition to the air raids, Leningrad also remained under (Continued on Page Eight)

Committee At Ashville Seeks $5,000 For Swimming Pool And Bath House

EARLY SUCCESS HINTED

Two Injured Auto Drivers Reported Improving; Other News Notes

About a dozen or so of the swimming pool fund solicitors, met at the council house Tuesday in their first confab to compare notes and report the number and who had been solicited and with what success.

Of the $5,000 estimated required for the construction of the pool and bath house, $3,140 has been secured. A number is yet to be solicited and several asked for a return call.

The members of the soliciting committee are much pleased with the amount they have received and feel right next to sure the $5000 is easily in sight and say there will be "no lay down and quit" until the goal has been reached and the pool and bath house are in actual operation.

Reports from Harley Musselman and Paul Partee well shook-up, cut and considerably bruised in their auto collision on the pike the other morning, are that they are getting along well and will be going again in a few days. Autos considerably damaged.

F. D. Returns To Desk After Mother's Rites

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 10—President Roosevelt today returned his closest attention to the stern world developments that threaten the peace and security of the United States.

The chief executive was calmly aware that grief would not bring back his 87-year-old mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, whom he buried in the Hyde Park family plot beside his father yesterday afternoon.

Ahead of Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow night is delivery of a world-wide radio address of "major importance," to be sent out over the air waves on every available facility and in 14 different languages.

In view of the undecisive battle between a German submarine and the U. S. destroyer Greer last week, coupled with subsequent disclosure of the sinking of an American - operated merchant craft southwest of Iceland and the destruction of a second American flag ship in the Red Sea, the President's pronouncement was expected to reverberate in every world capital. He will go on the air from the White House in Washington at 9 p. m.

Mr. Roosevelt had planned to deliver this address last Monday night. Sudden death Sunday of his mother impelled postponement until tomorrow night, but his assistants have given no indication that its momentous character in any way will be dimmed.

Churchill Talk Recalled

Observers wondered whether British Prime Minister Winston Churchill had possibly given any indication of its nature when he told the House of Commons that he and the President had reached highly important decisions at their historic high seas conference both to aid Soviet Russia in her death struggle with Nazi Germany and to check further Japanese aggression in the Far East. Churchill said frankly that Britain hoped for even "greater help" from the United States Navy.

The nation in any event knew that the President already had given U. S. fighting ships orders to shoot in all future encounters with German submarines or raiders in the North Atlantic, and had directed that the Nazi U-boat

MADISON CHILD STRICKEN WITH SCARLET FEVER

A first grader at Madison Township School was quarantined for scarlet fever Tuesday afternoon, and Wednesday county health officers were checking all first graders at the school to keep other cases from developing.

Quarantined was Walter Swoyer, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Swoyer, Madison Township. The youngster was at school Monday, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, said, but did not report to school Tuesday. The family, including Walter, the father and mother and a 2½ year old daughter, was quarantined late Tuesday.

Dr. Blackburn said the Swoyer boy had been placed under the care of a local physician and appeared to have only a mild case of the disease. The first grade at Madison Township will be checked every day for the rest of this week, however, Dr. Blackburn said.

Pickaway County Outdoors

The hunting season for squirrel will open in Pickaway County Monday and will continue until September 30. Every hunter should observe the usual precautions with reference to the safe use of firearms while hunting squirrels. The daily bag limit is four, and after the first day a hunter may have eight in his possession. Squirrels may not be shipped out of the state. When a license is purchased and a copy of the game laws secured with it, it is wise to check the laws carefully to see that they are not obsolete.

Almost all of our hunting laws have been revised and amended in order to clarify certain sections which sometimes caused controversy in the past. Some of these changes will be mentioned in this column from time to time. The groundhog for instance has been made a game quadruped. Formerly the groundhog had no standing as a game animal. One must have a hunting license to hunt ground-hogs.

No person shall hunt or trap any wild bird or wild quadruped within the state without first having applied for and received a hunting and trapping license as required herein. But the owner, and the children of the owner of lands, residing in the state, or the tenant or children of the tenant, or manager, residing on such lands, may hunt thereon without a hunting and trapping license. Therefore in order to hunt crows, sparrows, starlings, hawks or owls one must have a hunting and trapping license, since those birds come under the classification of wild birds. Hawks and owls may be taken when destroyed property. Sparrows, starlings, and crows may be taken at any time except Sunday and their nests destroyed. Blackbirds may be taken at any time except Sunday when they are doing damage or have become a nuisance. Sunday hunting of all birds or animals is prohibited.

It will be noticed that the tenant or manager of a farm must have a license to hunt on the lands rented or managed unless the tenant or manager resides on said lands. A tenant is one who has rented lands at cash or grain rent. A person who lives on lands and works by the day is not a tenant. The pheasant distribution for the year is practically complete. Pheasants have been released in all townships of the county. The distribution in each township has been managed largely by the director for that township. The director in the township is an official of the Farmers and Sportsmen's Association who acts as a leader in conservation work in his particular township. This year the total distribution will amount to more than 1100 birds for the entire county. That number includes about 150 mature birds which have been released at two different times earlier in the year. Reports from farmers throughout the county indicate there have been good hatches of pheasants in the fields. These of course furnish the principal supply of birds and sportsmen and farmers everywhere should do all they can to maintain a good habitat for them throughout the year. Cover lanes along the fence-rows, food patches, unpastured spots in the woodlands and winter feeding will assist materially in raising a good crop of pheasants annually.

could use an aerial truck with automatic extension ladders and one additional pump and ladder outfit, the fire chief also pointed out.

For a city of its size, Circleville is fairly well equipped with fire fighting apparatus, the fire chief said in his report, having three pumpers in good working condition, and a fourth which might be put into operation in case of an emergency.

Possibility of Circleville being bombed seems remote, but the city lies on the intersection of two federal highways, Routes 22 and 23, and a well directed bomb could block both highways to the free transportation of troops and supplies, some officials reason.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will be the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. # GERMAN PLANE HIT FREIGHTER, CREW DECLARES

All Men Aboard Sunken Steel Seafarer Safe In Red Sea Port

CRAFT WELL LIGHTED

Egyptian Natives Provide Aid On Island; Story Of Attack Told

By Kenneth Downs

A RED SEA PORT, Sept. 10—Safe in port after an unidentified plane sank their ship, 36 officers and crew members of the sunken American lease-lend freighter Steel Seafarer declared today that the vessel was fully lighted, with an illuminated American flag at the stern, when the bomber attacked.

Several members of the crew indicated their belief that the bomber was a German plane, but there was no official verification of this.

Virtually all members of the crew agreed, however, that the attacking plane glided down with motors idling to a point within 150 feet of the ship before dropping the bomb or aerial torpedo that sent the vessel to the bottom of the Red Sea.

Because of this and the illumination of the ship, they declared, the attacking airmen could not mistake the identity of the American freighter.

(Editor's Note: An official communiqué issued in Rome last night stated that the "alleged sinking" of an American ship in the Red Sea was "natural" since the Red Sea and the Suez Canal have been declared a blockade zone by Italy.)

The 36 survivors were brought to this port aboard two vessels, a British warship and a Danish merchant vessel.

It was revealed the Steel Seafarer carried a typical lease-lend cargo, such as motor transports, various army stores, R. A. F. spare parts and accessories and machinery and also a small amount of commercial cargo.

The 24 crew members who arrived on the British war vessel declared angrily that the attacking bomber swooped low at 11 p. m. Friday to strike its deadly blow at the vessel.

Sinks In 20 Minutes

Unharmd by their experience, they declared the Steel Seafarer sank within 20 minutes after the missile was dropped and exploded with a shattering crash.

Twenty-four of the survivors rowed in two boats for 12 hours to an island in the Red Sea where Egyptian natives helped them set up signals which finally, after 24 more hours, attracted a British warship.

Soon afterward the remaining 12 survivors were picked up by a third lifeboat by the Danish vessel.

All the survivors praised the conduct of the Steel Seafarer's captain, John Holliday of Baltimore, Md.

First Officer Ralph Pratt of New York City calmly related the facts of the sinking and concluded by saying:

"I'd give a lot to lay my hands on that—Jerry who did that."

Pratt's use of the term "Jerry" evidently indicated his belief that the attacking plane was a German machine. A similar view was expressed by the helmsman, Robert Cartwright, and by still another unidentified member of the crew who remarked:

"One good thing was that the Nazi plane did not return to machine gun us."

Story Related

Pratt told the story of the attack as follows:

"The plane came over at 11 p. m. Friday. It dived down and then opened its throttle with a roar when the bomb was dropped. There were two explosions in the No. 5 oil tank and amidships. At the time we were steaming northward and were not in convoy."

"The plane swooped over between the masts. The bomb—or it may have been an aerial torpedo—seemed to hit and explode just under the water."

"I was asleep at the time. All the lights suddenly went out. 'Grabbing my slippers, I reached the bridge in 30 seconds. The plane had flown off and the ship was sinking rapidly."

Counting that 24 members of the crew rowed for 12 hours in two boats to an island, Pratt added:

"When we reached the island the Egyptians were very helpful. They enabled us to signal our position and request other vessels to search for the third lifeboat, which was missing."

"The crew of the British warship which picked us up could not have looked after us better."

"They gave us clothes and everything we wanted."

Five minutes after the Steel Seafarer was hit the entire crew had taken to the three lifeboats and was clear. Only Capt. Holliday, First Officer Pratt, Helmsman Cartwright, of Nantucket, and Radio Operator James Abernathy of New York remained aboard to make sure all hands were safe. They left the vessel just two minutes before the freighter upended and then slid from sight.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

it is apparent that there is plenty of hoarding.

Wallace's Board has three courses open to it in cracking down on speculators and hoarders:

(1) It can seize the excess stockpiles at a government-fixed price; (2) it can deprive the companies of raw materials until they have exhausted their hoardings; (3) it can require them to use their reserves wholly for defense and essential civilian goods.

NOTE: For military reasons, results of the Wallace Board survey are closely guarded, but certain industries are due for drastic cuts in their priority grants. Their returns show that they were allowed to obtain quantities of materials far beyond the amount of defense they are now producing.

CAPITAL CHAFF

The State Department is planning to hire Lawrence Cramer, whom Ickes fired as Governor of the Virgin Islands, to head its new bureau in charge of the Caribbean Islands. Yet the State Department wants this new bureau to cooperate with Ickes regarding U. S. Islands in the Caribbean.

... Dave Niles has been requested to soften Ickes for the Cramer appointment. . . . Just before the Nazi submarine attack on the U. S. Destroyer Greer, three U. S. tankers had proceeded to Iceland where they transhipped oil to British tankers, which then proceeded to England. . . . This cut the usual ocean haul for the British by about one-third. And of course the U. S. tankers had U. S. protection as far as Iceland. . . . Despite the howls of General Maxwell, Budget Director Harold Smith has shaved the budget of Maxwell's Export Control office from $3,000,000 to $1,000,000. This is the office which passes life or death sentences on the right of Latin American countries to obtain vital materials here.

SQUIREL DIPLOMACY

Tall, curly haired Australian Minister Richard G. Casey became involved in a rather delicate situation during a recent trip to Oklahoma—but, diplomat that he is, he wiggled out.

The situation had to do with squirrel meat.

Casey went to Oklahoma to address the State American Legion convention at Muskogee, and while there was invited to a squirrel and spare-rib barbecue at a nearby country club. All went well until a platter of the main course was placed before him. Suddenly the Australian Minister lost his appetite.

"What's the trouble, Mr. Minister?" inquired Representative Jack Nichols. "Aren't you hungry?"

"Oh, yes," replied Casey, nibbling at a spare-rib. "But you see this squirrel meat is new to me. We don't have any squirrels in Australia."

"Go ahead and try some," someone urged. "You'll like it."

Squirrel is a great delicacy in this country."

But Casey still hesitated. Then, flashing his handsomest smile, he explained:

"You see, my little girl, who is 12 and my boy, who is 9, hadn't seen any squirrels until they came to this country, and they became quite attached to them in Washington parks. In fact, my boy is so fond of squirrels that he put me on my honor not to eat any squirrels when I left Oklahoma."

AMERICA FIRST FUNDS

The America First Committee has steadfastly refused to divulge any information about its source of funds or size of contributions. But as a result of the recent special congressional election in the First Wisconsin District, the Wisconsin branch of the America Committee may be forced to open its books.

State Attorney General John E. Martin has announced his intention to order the chapter to file an official report on its expenditures in the contest.

The America First organization took a very active part in the campaign in behalf of Lawrence H. Smith, successful Republican candidate who ran on an isolationist platform, and Wisconsin law requires all organizations participating in political campaigns to file detailed expense accounts. Martin now holds this over the America First Committee. Whether it will submit a report remains to be seen. So far the Committee has been very secretive about its finances.

DUTCH VS. NAZIS

Diplomatic dispatches indicate that popular unrest is rampant not only in France but in the low countries as well.

In the Dutch towns of Haarlam, a Dutch Nazi leader named Anton Mussert rose to deliver an address inaugurating a Dutch Nazi district building. As soon as he opened his mouth, hundreds of bicycle bells began to ring in chorus.

This sabotage was kept up until police cleared the unruly elements away from the building. When that was done, there was no one left in the audience except the Burgomaster of Haarlam and Nazi officials.

Bloomfield's Suit For Compensation Assigned

Pickaway County's September term petit jury will be called in for the first time next Monday when it will hear the case of E. F. Bloomfield, Circleville, against the Container Corporation of America.

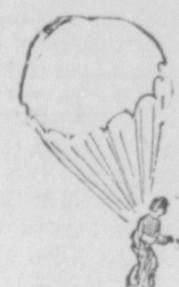

In the action, Bloomfield, a machine oiler for Container, asks for compensation for injuries he received when working for the company in 1934. Bloomfield claims that as a result of a fall he received at the Container plant, he is entitled to compensation for the time he lost from work. When the accident happened the Container Corporation was a self-insured company. Since then it has adopted the state system of workmen's compensation.

The following week, the jury will hear the John T. White case, White, originally from Clarksburg, W. Va., is alleged to have passed a $3,200 check on the Pickaway Livestock Association as payment on a shipment of hogs. He has remained in County Jail for months pending action of the court. Those whose birthday it is should have a year of splendid achievement, with plans and projects of large importance progressing to a lively and energetic finish, if subjected to shrewd and subtle strategies rather than main strength or aggressive measures. This also applies to private and emotional situations. Be discreet particularly in the latter.

NEW PUMPKIN SHOW FEATURES OUTLINED FOR BUSINESS MEN

HUGE LIVESTOCK DISPLAY, FINEST BANDS OBTAINED

Hocking Countians Request Right To Bring Their Choice Stock Here

C. C., DIRECTORS GATHER

Circleville Firms Provide Trips To Chicago For Major Winners

Pumpkin Show directors and Chamber of Commerce members met Tuesday night to discuss plans for Circleville's 38th annual Pumpkin Show. Added features and new attractions were outlined.

The meeting was the last the Chamber of Commerce will hold before the Pumpkin Show. Show directors will meet again next Monday night and probably will hold other meetings before the opening of the event October 8.

The new show will feature a larger Junior Fair and livestock show and sale, more parades and bands and special talent features and attractions to take the place of the usual free acts.

F. K. Blair, county agricultural agent, told Chamber members and Pumpkin Show directors that about 50 head of young livestock would be included in the show and sale this year. Calves in three classes, the Shorthorn, Angus and Hereford breeds, will be included.

Mr. Blair said the Hocking County 4-H beef club had asked to bring their livestock to the Pumpkin Show for the sale and possibilities are that they will boost the number of calves for sale by quite a sizeable amount. Three tents already have been secured to house the livestock on North and South Pickaway Streets. The tents are 30 feet by 60 feet.

Directors hope that the livestock may be brought to the show Wednesday and held over until Friday for the sale, leaving them on exhibit for two days before they are sold.

Dress Revue Planned

An added feature to the Junior Fair department this year will be a girls' dress revue Thursday evening. Definite plans have not been made for the feature, but directors believe it will take the place of one good free act.

The Circleville Lumber Company, the Ralston Purina Company and J. W. Eshelman and Sons again have agreed to send a livestock winner to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago this fall.

Junior Fair exhibits will find all nine departments taking an active part this year, George McDowell, chairman of the Junior Fair reported at the meeting. Junior Fair exhibits this year will be on display in Memorial Hall.

Musical Units Booked

Nineteen bands and four drum corps are included in the list of organizations invited to participate in the show. Bands which have been secured to play during the afternoons include the Circleville High School band, the county school bands, the Boys' Industrial School band, the Union Furnace band, Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Home band of Xenia, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars band. In addition, high school bands from Central Ohio will be here Thursday night to participate in the "Parade of Bands" and county high school bands on Friday night to participate in the county band contest.

The Columbus American Legion Drum Corps, with thirty members, has been invited to the show for two nights.

Hildeburn Martin, in charge of the float displays, reported that he expected about the same number of floats this year as last. Other show directors reported plans for big displays this year. W. Joe Burns, director of the flower show, said favorable weather will bring even more flowers to the show than last year, when the local exhibit was the largest in its class of any exhibit in Ohio.

Thirty-four persons, including Chamber of Commerce members and Pumpkin Show directors, attended the meeting.

The first grant of lands to aid in the construction of a railroad was the act of congress of Sept. 20, 1850, to the state of Illinois.

Sheriff Radcliff said five markers were also missing from the Whisler cemetery and that at least one of them had been sold to the Modelich grave stone company, 796 West Mound Street, Columbus.

It was at the Modelich establishment that Sheriff Radcliff and E. O. Critch, superintendent of Forest Cemetery, identified parts of markers taken from Forest Cemetery during the last few months.

The Streitenberger youth says he "might have taken" the stones.

long-distance German artillery fire, military authorities in Berlin declared, adding that the Russian naval base at Kronstadt likewise is being pounded by heavy guns. The new Luftwaffe attacks on Leningrad followed up previous dive-bombing stuka assaults Monday and Monday night.

The war communiques from Chancellor Hitler's military headquarters confirmed his comments on the Russian conflict to the bare statement that "in the east successful attacks are continuing."

Military quarters in Berlin stated, however, that the town of Vjazma, midway between Smolensk and Moscow, has fallen into German hands after heavy fighting.

These quarters claimed that German forces already are advancing beyond Vjazma, which they described as an important railway junction.

OHIO FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN WINTER OATS

Success in raising winter oats in southern Ohio during the last three years by a number of farmers has created quite a general interest in this crop, and county agricultural agents and the agronomy department at Ohio State University get many inquiries.

A report made by F. K. Blair, agricultural agent in Pickaway County, of winter oats grown on the Sagamore Stock Farm, Washington Township, shows why farmers are interested. Mr. Blair says seven pecks of seed per acre were sown September 15, 1940, in a field containing 9.3 acres.

From this field were harvested 820 bushels of winter oats weighing 35 pounds per bushel. The variety was Winter Turf, and the seed was produced in a small plot planted in the fall of 1939 on the same farm.

Winter oats have been tested for a period of years in Ohio by the Experiment Station and by agronomists at the University. These oats are more subject to winter injury than either winter wheat or winter barley, and there is about a 50-50 chance that the oats will not survive a southern Ohio winter.

Another disadvantage of the crop is that it must be seeded about September 15. This makes it nearly impossible to use winter oats in rotation following corn or soybeans.

Recommendation for the use of winter oats in this state includes the warning that the farmer should be prepared to lose the crop about every other year. If the crop survives, it will outyield spring oats two or three times. Winter oats winter-killed at Columbus in 1940-41, and they are not practical except in southern Ohio.

WHOOPIING COUGH FATAL TO ALEXANDER INFANT

Whooping cough caused the death Tuesday afternoon of Rose Emma Alexander, three month old daughter of Forrest and Juanita Alexander, who live in Jackson Township. The child died at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Alexander in Sharon Township, Franklin County.

The parents, paternal grandparents and a sister, Hazel Marvene, survive.

The body will be at the home of the grandparents until it is brought to the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home, East Main Street, at 9 a. m. Thursday where friends may call. It will then be taken to the Dresbach church for services at 10 a. m., the Rev. Paxton officiating.

TEXT OF F. D.'S ADDRESS READY

The State Department has now received word that the German submarine torpedoed of the American destroyer Greer off Iceland was a blind attack. The U-boat, officials said, made no attempt to identify the Greer, but fired blindly at it while submerged.

This information has led the American government to wonder whether Adolf Hitler has ordered unrestricted submarine warfare against all ships suspected of aiding Great Britain.

A full report on the diplomatic aspects of the three incidents is being prepared by the State Department for President Roosevelt.

The nature of the warning which this government is likely to deliver to Germany in connection with these increasing attacks on American shipping rests, it is said, entirely with President Roosevelt.

Board, but that body was unable to bring about any adjustment.

Selecting Five

The chief executive was in the process today of selecting the five men who will comprise the special board of inquiry. It was not thought, however, that formal appointment of the board would be made until after the President's return to Washington. He was canvassing several men to ascertain whether it would be possible for them to sit in judgment in the wage dispute.

Members of the board, under provisions of the Railway Labor Act, will be paid $75 for every day of actual service plus the customary $5 per diem traveling expenses.

Appended to the President's proclamation were nine pages listing the railroads and the unions involved.

to a declaration by Nye, who asserted that a "No. 1" movie producer had said that a government agency urged production of propaganda pictures.

Nye, pointing to praise bestowed on the movies by Mellett, government information director, also asked an investigation to determine whether Washington officials asserted propaganda pressure on the movie industry.

"I am extremely reluctant to dignify further the reckless and unsupported charges made by Sen. Gerald Nye against the motion picture industry," Willkie said. "But Sen. Nye made one serious allegation which I am sure the senate subcommittee will not want to let stand on the record for even one day."

"According to Sen. Nye's fanciful concoction, the federal government directs from Washington the motion picture business on what pictures it should or should not make. Of course Sen. Nye has no proof of this for the simple reason that the charge is completely untrue."

"But when such a charge is made by any U. S. senator, there is great danger that it may be believed by the general public which has no opportunity for personal investigation."

FOUR YOUNGSTERS PLACED ON TWO YEAR PROBATION

Four Circleville youths were placed on two year probations and made wards of Juvenile Court Wednesday, by Judge Lemuel B. Weldon. Each boy was charged with breaking and entering several buildings in the city within the last several months.

The boys were Roy Walisa Jr., 13, West Mound Street; Henry Arthur Walisa, 16, West Mound Street; Samuel Tomlinson, 13, West Mound Street and Harold Delong, 13, Cottage Hill.

A fifth boy, Harley (Peck) Smith, 16, Hayward Avenue, also implicated in the break-ins, was returned to Boy's Industrial School, Lancaster, from which he had been paroled recently on a breaking and entering charge.

MEMORIAL HALL SEARCH FAILS TO REVEAL YEGGS

Fear that Memorial Hall was being looted by two men who were reported to have broken into the Pickaway Street door of the building sent Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Deputy Earl Weaver, Police Chief W. F. McCrady and Patrolman Elmer Merriman to the scene about 10 p. m. Tuesday, but their search failed to discover any would-be burglars.

A report was sent to the sheriff's office that someone had seen two men enter the building.

years, brings total supplies to 1,340,000,000 bushels. Domestic consumption, on the other hand, is estimated to be 670,000,000 bushels. In view of unsettled international conditions, exports can not be accurately forecast, they declared.

Government programs, which have the effect of restricting wheat production by curtailing acreage allotments, now hold up prices at high levels. A net loan rate of 98 cents per bushel is also offered, which has the effect of holding up prices on the market. Release of stocks now held by the government as collateral for loans would tend to depress prices.

RADIO BRIEFS

Evidently Hollywood is watching the Charles Martin "Playhouse" series Friday nights with keen interest. Nearly every time that Martin revives an old hit the movie companies follow up with an announcement that they're going to do a re-make of the film. Latest instance is "Bullesque" which was screened in 1930, was presented by Martin this season, and will now be filmed over again.

Eddie Byron will head for New Haven, Conn., immediately after his "Mr. District Attorney" broadcast.

Billy Mills' comic radio song, "The Sound Effects Man," has been adopted by several college radio classes, to illustrate with music the different types of sound effects used on the air.

Much has been said about the ticket demand for Bob Hawk's "Take It Or Leave It" when the show is on tour. Ducat requests are even greater in New York, where thousands have to be turned down weekly because of seating limitations.

Today's Garden-Graph

Palms As Window Plants Well-grown palms add both a feathery and tropical atmosphere to the window gardens. Formerly, palms were only used for wedding decorations, hotel lobbies and barber shops but today the small varieties are suitable material for even the smallest apartments.

Illustrated in the Garden-Graph, the Weddell palm is considered the most delicate, graceful and feathery of all palms. Placed in a north window, it grows easily if given both moisture and good drainage.

Two other desirable palms for home use are low-lying belemaria and howea forsteriana. Palms always do best in small pots but, unfortunately, most people overlook them instead of keeping them root-bound. Overly large sized pots encourages a soggy, stagnant condition of the soil which results in a sickly looking palm.
